Electric Inspections

Winchester Utilities shall have the right, but not the obligation, to inspect Customer's wiring beyond the weatherhead or any POD (Point of Delivery), before electric service is supplied or at any later time, and reserves the right to reject or discontinue service to a Customer whose wiring, at the sole discretion of WU, is deemed to be unsafe or not found in accordance with the provisions above. However, such inspection, or failure to inspect, or failure to reject, shall not render WU liable or responsible for any loss or damage to Customer resulting from defects in the installation, wiring, or from violation of WU Schedule of Rules and Regulations, from violation of National Electric Safety Code (NESC), or from accidents that may occur on Customer's premises.

WU shall not be liable for any damage where Customer's wiring does not conform to applicable code or law.
